DANGER OF FLOOD NOW THOUGHT TO BE PASSED

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, March 6.-While there is steady rise in both the Ogden and Weber ivers, City Engineer W. M. Bostaph is of the opinion that if the high waters reach the flood stage but little, if any, damage will result to property owners along the banks of both streams. All city property has been protected by precautionary measures by the city engineer and his assistants several days ago, and but two exposed points of the city sewer outlet on Seventeenth street and Twenty-first street remain. These will be looked after before the streams become more swollen. Since the recent passing of the cold wave, which had held Ogden in its grip for many weeks, the water in the Ogden river has risen eighteen feet and the Weber river four feet. Both streams continue to rise, but there is no immediate danger of a flood, since the increased flow of the streams is gradual. the flood stage but little, if any, damage

POLICE PUT ON TRAIL OF FAKE CHARITY WORKER

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, March 6.—The police have been notified by persons living on Twen-ty-third street of the actions of a negro canvass of this portion of the city soliciting alms.

In most cases the negro portrays the usual deathbed scene of his wife and how he is trying to obtain sufficient funds to pay the funeral expenses. At other homes where he has called, the fake charity worker tells a pitiful story of his home being burned and the death of his children.

Carver, the body of Mrs. Harriet Plumb Hunter was laid at rest in the City cemetery. Mrs. Hunter was one of the early ploneers of Utah, having reached the ripe age of $7 years at the time of her death. Mrs. W. G. Dairymple and Miss Lou Mitchell gave the music at the services today.

EPHRAIM. March 6.—A half dozen lads from Gunnison and the surrounding country were on Friday brought to a stop in their committing burglaries, so frequently complained of for some time in that city and vicinity, but without clue to who the guilty parties were. During the week, they looted the railway depot and secured several bottles of beer which they cached in some willows near by and this led to their arrest.

Special Agent A. J. Mullings of the D. & R. G. visited Gunnison during the week and had two suspects, Garney Jensen and a Thompson boy accompany him to the depot. Mr. Mullings showed the boys how nicely their shoes fitted the imprints, even to the size of the nail heads, found on the window casings leading to the depot store room. But the boys flatly denied having been there or knowing anything about the stealing, so the detective apologized for having suspected them wrongfully, and as the train approached bade them goodbye and proceeded to Manti.

Garney and his companion thinking there would be no more said of the affair, then found their way to the place where they had previously cached the stolen beer and were soon gloriously drunk Mr. Overfelt, the local agent, communicated the fact to Manti and the detective and Sheriff Knudson boarded the return train to Gunnison. It was somewhat of a surprise on the two boys, but none the less effective in eliciting a full confession as well as implicating four other boys—another of the Thompson boys, one of J. P. Fieldstad's, one of Mrs. James Nellson's, and one of Mr. Halverson's. All six of them were given a good fatherly talk by the sheriff and Mr. Mullings prior to being citted before the juvenile judge, who will be given the case to handle.

PROVO, March 6.—J. A. (Al) Thatcher, now living in Salt Lake, formerly a resident here, was arrested by Policeman Harding last evening and taken to the city jail on a charge of intoxication. After spending the night in jail Thatcher left 35 this morning for his appearance in police court on Monday and was released. Thatcher is married, but at the present time he and his wife are not living together. Mrs. Thatcher is stopping with her mother, Mrs. Huber, who runs the Huber rooming house on West Center street, Provo, and Thatcher came to Provo Saturday to see his wife and little three-year-old girl. He saw the child and when an opportunity presented he took the little one and started off with her. Mrs. Huber, who is a large, muscular woman, saw him going away with her granddaughter and intercepted Mr. Thatcher and, taking him by the coat collar, laid him on his back in the street. morning a very delightful one and of sufficient importance to delay dinner almost an hour beyond the usual time.

That an echo is usually as sweet as its song, was demonstrated last Tuesday when the members of the third preparatory class presented one of the daintiest and most suggestive literary programmes ever given by little misses at Sacred Heart—a Hiawatha morning with an Hiawatha morning with an ideal Indian setting. "Figures tell." This old truth was proved again last Wednesday when monthly reports were distributed. The workers received excellent averages, while a few who had been courting spring fever too early fell below the mark.

"Know thyself," seems to be the motto of the fourth preparatory class, and the members interpret the maxim in its lit-eral sense as they proved last Friday when they passed a very successful ex-amination in physiology, the study of which they will discontinue save for oc-cessional readings and suggestive talks.

RICHFIELD. Murch 6.—It is reported that the few days of spring weather which prevalled last week has caused such a flood in the upper stretches of the Sevier river that the temporary dam constructed to divert the water through the tunnel above the site of the Plute dam has been washed away, and a raging torrent washes over the preliminary work of the dam construction. It is said that this unexpected flood will delay the work of dam construction until after the high water season.
